

Oliver McGowan Mandatory Training in Learning Disability & Autism

Training Brochure 2020

The training is named after Oliver McGowan, whose death shone a light on the need for health and social care staff to have better training. You can find out more about Oliver's Campaign here.

The aim of the Oliver McGowan mandatory training is to ensure that staff working in health and social care receive learning disability and autism training, at the right level for their role. They will have a better understanding of people's needs, resulting in better services and improved health and wellbeing outcomes.

Understanding my Learning Disability

This workshop will raise understanding and introduce important information about learning disability and values-based practice.

We will explore learning disability issues with professionals and people with a learning disability in a positive practical and engaging way

By the end of this workshop participants will have:

- A Greater understanding about learning disability
- An understanding of how to support the health and wellbeing of people with learning disabilities
- Explored what we mean by personalised care and support
- An understanding of the importance of Total Communication
- An introduction to the law relating to people with learning disabilities.

Understanding my Autism

This workshop will raise understanding and introduce important information about autism and values-based practice.

We will explore autism issues with professionals and people with a learning disability in a positive practical and engaging way

By the end of the workshop participants will have:

- An understanding of what you need to know about autism
- An understanding of an autistic person's unique communication and information needs
- An understanding of the Health needs of autistic people
- An understanding of how to support the wellbeing of autistic people
- An introduction to the Equality Act 2010, Human Rights Act 1998 and Mental Capacity Act 2005

The training will be delivered by the Self-Advocates Training Partnership

The Self-Advocates Training Partnership is a group of disabled people who have come together to co-produce training with health and social care professionals and families.

All our training uses a Social Model of Disability and human rights approach. We work together to build on the strengths in our communities.

The workshops will take place on Zoom.

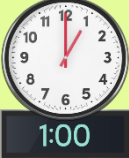

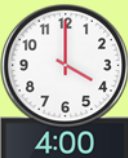

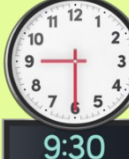

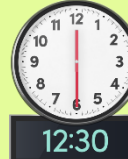

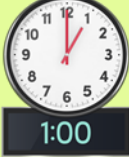

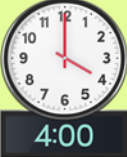

To book your place, join Lancashire and South Cumbria Joint Training Partnership (it is free) here.

There are lots of dates to choose from.
